

How to monitor Health and Safety in your school or trust

This course provides guidance to boards on the breadth of their statutory duties for health and safety including understanding premises health and safety; keeping pupils safe and healthy; staff training, mental health and wellbeing; and the risk assessment duties of schools. It provides information on how to broaden your health and safety monitoring beyond the typical physical building checks and effectively monitor your school/trust compliance with legislation and policies. It is ideal training for your health and safety governor.

What you will learn:

- The Boards' strategic role regarding Health and Safety
- The scope of H & S in schools - the regulations and guidance
- What are the health and safety roles in school?
- Considering health and safety and the curriculum
- Managing H&S risks and risk assessments
- How to monitor and review health and safety
- Building condition safety and RAAC

All delegates receive an electronic copy of the presentation and supporting materials and resources to help them to be more impactful in their governance role.

Who should attend?

Any governors and trustees who have responsibilities for Health & Safety, those who are new to governance or any governors or trustees who want to understand more about the boards responsibilities in this area.
